Local Agency Formation Commission of Napa County

Established in 1963, the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) of Napa County is a state mandated local agency that administers California Government Code Sections 56000 et. seq., known as, the Cortese-Knox-Hertzberg (CKH) Local Government Reorganization Act of 2000. This Act charges LAFCO with the responsibility to encourage the logical formation and development of local agencies in a manner that preserves open-space and agricultural lands and discourages urban sprawl. LAFCO reviews proposals for changes of organization of local governments in Napa County. Such changes include annexations and detachments to cities and special districts, the formation of new government districts, and the incorporation of cities. LAFCO also studies the provision of municipal services to the people of Napa County, and has several tools at its disposal to assist local agencies in determining appropriate service areas and boundaries. LAFCO's jurisdiction under CKH extends to all local agencies. The Act defines local agencies as the county, cities, and special districts of Napa County. Currently, there are 23 agencies in Napa County that meet this definition.

County of Napa

Napa County was created in 1850 as one of the original twenty-seven California counties. Throughout the varied geographical expanse of Napa County's 794 square miles, county government provides services directly to its people – services crucial to healthy economic activity and designed to enhance the quality of life. Public protection, health care, social services, and roadwork are but four of the more than 100 major services and hundreds of individual programs provided and administered by county government. As of January 1, 2002, the State Department of Finance estimates Napa County's population at 128,021.
